

Barriers to STBBI screening

Secondary-level barriers for people seeking care

I started seeing someone new a few months ago, and we've gotten really close!

A few days ago, I started noticing some strange stuff with my body. I'm worried it could be an STBBI.

I know I need to get checked out... it's just that my doctor is good friends with my parents. I'm afraid they'll find out!

...so I won't go see the doctor. Maybe this rash will clear up on its own...