

2018 WINNERS

On behalf of the Awards Committee, the Division of Continuing Medical Education and the UBC Faculty of Medicine, we would like to offer our congratulations and thank 2018 award winners for their impactful contributions to CPD! UBC CPD applauds all of the nominees and thanks the nominators for putting their names forward. Heartfelt congratulations to Dr. Guillemi and Dr. Bourgeois-Law for their innovation, dedication and service to CPD/CME. The winners and their guests are invited to the Annual Faculty of Medicine Awards Reception where their award will be presented by the Dean.

Award for Distinguished Service to CPD

Recognizes substantial long term contributions to Continuing Professional Development/Continuing Medical Education in the Faculty of Medicine .

Gisele Bourgeois-Law

Dr. Bourgeois-Law has provided exemplary innovative, scholarly and sound administrative leadership and service to Continuing Professional Development over the length of her academic career. Known for her work in assessment of international medical graduates and remediation of practicing physicians, she built collaborative networks for faculty development at UBC, started peer-coaching for leadership skills, and mentored many. Nationally she has surveyed CPD programs for accreditation, participated in AFMC committees, and took on the inaugural chair for the Canadian Association of Medical Education (CAME) professional development committee. Currently a PhD student in HPE, she exemplifies scholarly and dedicated service to CPD.

Award for Innovation in CPD

Recognizes outstanding innovation and/or creativity with original work in the area of CME/CPD programming.

Dr. Silvia Guillemi

The BC Centre for Excellence in HIV/AIDS Clinical Education and Training team have developed and implemented unique and innovative opportunities for training and education in the field of HIV/AIDS in BC. A spectrum of educational programs and events have been developed to meet the needs of those who identify as novice, through to mastery, with consideration given to program accessibility for those who are located rurally. Programming includes online courses, an Intensive Preceptorship Program, webinars, and recorded lectures and events. Ongoing evaluations and research demonstrate the positive impact of these initiatives in patient care and outcomes.
